Community Connections, managed by the U.S. Agency for International Development (USAID) and administered by World Learning, is designed to promote public diplomacy through the exchange of cultural ideas. It seeks to establish and strengthen links between U.S. communities and those in Armenia, Azerbaijan, Belarus, Georgia, Kazakhstan, Kyrgyzstan Republic, Moldova, Russia, Tajikistan, Turkmenistan, Ukraine and Uzbekistan.

The professional program was evaluated by delegates to be interesting and useful. World Services extends thanks to professionals from Gundersen Lutheran; Franciscan Skemp-Mayo; Scenic Bluffs Community Health Center; Veterans Memorial Hospital, Waukon; Mayo Health System—Rochester; Health Traditions; University of Wisconsin Population Health Institute; Wisconsin Hospital Association; the La Crosse County Medical Society; Wisconsin Legislative Council; Wisconsin Collaborative for Healthcare Quality; and the University of Minnesota-Rochester.

“Our Lifestyles May Be Different But Our Values Are The Same...”

— John Koehn, Newton Daily News

“...We all believe it’s important to be engaged in your community. We know life is far more enjoyable when you’re able to laugh”, continues the local news editor after meeting with Open World delegates from the Newton, Iowa Sister City of Smila, Ukraine.

Hosted by the Newton Sister City organization (Organization Promoting Everlasting Neighbors—OPEN), visiting educators were impressed by the flexibility of Newton’s education system and commitment to success for each student. The delegates commented “I like that students are very open and very willing to share their opinions.”

Newton and Smila youth chorus directors will explore potential collaboration between the Iowa Youth Chorus and the Centre of Children and Youth Creativity in Smila. Planning will continue this summer in Smila when a delegation from Newton travels to Ukraine.

In addition to the professional program, Smila delegates joined Newton citizens in a special event commemorating the historic link-up of American and Ukrainian troops of the Soviet Army on the Elbe River Bridge. The April 25, 1945 meeting of the two Allied armies in Germany was an important step to the end of WWII.

San Diego-Vladivostok Sister City Society

An unexpected “window to the world” is now open to low income California elementary students as a result of a 2008 Open World exchange. The “Pacific Bridge” project launched by Open World alumni and their colleagues in San Diego opens the students’ world to view Vladivostok, Russia for students from the Barrio Logan neighborhood under San Diego’s Coronado Bridge. Even before the exchange San Diego students were studying Russian language and history each Monday and Thursday after school with their special principal Fernando Hernandez. The Open World exchange made these lessons come to life for the students, and made Russia “real”. Open World delegates Larisa Karpacheva, Tatyana Kuleshova and Svetlana Aleksandrova were inspired to connect their students in Vladivostok with the elementary schools in San Diego. Vladivostok and San Diego youth all gain perspectives on life in a different culture, and this Sister City partnership is now working to further develop the “Pacific Bridge” project with internet capabilities.
